ESTABLISHED 1880
LEXINGTON, MISSOURI 64067

HIGH SCHOOL AND JUNIOR COLLEGE

WENTWORTH'S PURPOSE

It is the purpose of Wentworth Military Academy to provide the best conditions possible for the all 'round development of worthy boys and young men.

To attain this high purpose, the Academy places greatest emphasis upon these four points:

First, it is the Academy's aim to assemble only the highest types of students—deserving youths of good parentage—to assure wholesome associations and greater progress. Every precaution is taken to keep undesirable boys—all those that might prove detrimental to others—out of the Academy.

Second, to employ only men of highest character and ability for its faculty. It is not enough for a Wentworth faculty member to be merely a scholar and a splendid instructor. He must also possess a spirit of friendliness and a sincere desire to give kindly help whenever necessary. He must thoroughly understand the innermost problems of boys—be patient with them—and be ready to serve each boy to the best of his ability.

Third, to provide the very best equipment throughout every department to the end that every boy will have all those things necessary to his health and happiness and that none shall want for anything that will help him to make progress.

Fourth, to provide a program for each day that will best serve the interests of every student.

SINCE EIGHTEEN EIGHTY

One of the chief reasons why Wentworth has been able to achieve its lofty purpose lies in the fact that the Academy has been under one continuous administration since its founding. For nearly three-score years, Colonel Sanford Sellers was president of Wentworth. He enjoyed one of the most enviable records in the history of American education.

The Academy was founded by Stephen G. Wentworth, scion of a distinguished English family and a prominent Lexington banker, in 1880, as a memorial to his deceased son, William Wentworth. Mr. Wentworth immediately vested control of the institution in the hands of a board of trustees composed of a duly elected representative of each of the Evangelical churches of Lexington, and a president. Colonel Sellers was called to the new school in its first year and remained as its active head until 1938. Mr. Wentworth served as president of the Board from 1880 until his death in 1897.

It was the firm conviction of the founder, his board of trustees and President Sellers that a military boarding school provides the most effective possible means for giving young men the thorough mental, moral and physical training necessary to develop in them the highest traits of manhood. Thus, Wentworth became the first military school in the Missouri River Valley.

From the beginning the late President Sellers surrounded himself with the ablest faculty available—strong men of proved qualities and Christian character. Under his wise and forward-looking direction, Wentworth has grown steadily. Each year has shown marked improvement over the preceding year. Today, Wentworth stands as one of the truly great educational institutions of our country—second to none in the opportunities it offers boys and young men for thorough preparation for professional studies, business and for life.

AN HISTORIC BACKGROUND

Throughout over half a century the Wentworth purpose has remained unchanged. The ideals which led to the Academy's founding and which have carried it steadily forward, shine just as brightly today as ever; the desire to give each youth every opportunity to develop fully his own individual personality; the aim that every cadet shall acquire a keen sense of duty and responsibility; both to himself and toward others; that he shall have the mental and moral power to make accurate judgment between right and wrong and the physical power to stand by his convictions.

These high standards have dominated Wentworth for generations. But to maintain them and assure their full and continuous application, it has been found necessary to limit the enrollment. Wentworth today is a relatively small school—many times larger than in 1880, to be sure, yet small enough that every individual student is given the private attention so essential to his all-round development.

The surrounding country affords a wealth of historically important Civil War sites and the town of Lexington itself retains much of the tradition of the old south. Here enthusiasm for the reminders of our country's glorious past is combined with the enthusiasm for modern adventure to promote the rapid development of the boy's mental, moral and physical resources.

YESTERDAY

and TODAY

The Wentworth Military Academy of today is vastly different from the Wentworth of 1880. From year to year it has enlarged its facilities, increased its enrollment and changed its physical appearance until there is little to remind one of the early days. Numerous modern and attractive buildings have been erected as they were needed. Old buildings have been torn away when they were no longer useful. Spacious military and athletic fields have been added. One of the finest Field Houses in the country has been built. Every new method in teaching that has been found definitely superior to older methods has been adopted. Yet, some of the fundamental principles that guided the first company are adhered to just as strictly today.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT

MILITARY training at Wentworth has been a strong feature since 1895 when the first active army officer was detailed to the Academy but has never been permitted to interfere with scholastic work.

Today the Reserve Officer Training Corps program (ROTC) at Wentworth is administered by Regular Army personnel, consisting of three commissioned officers and six non-commissioned officers, who are in charge of instruction.

Cadets are taught the theoretical aspects of the basic military subjects through formal classroom type instruction. Each Wednesday afternoon during the regular drill period the cadets apply those fundamentals learned. During the fall and spring of each school year the cadet corps participates in a field training program during the drill period. Initially, stress is placed on proficiency of the individual in such subjects as first aid, physical fitness and individual combat training. Later through instruction in combat formation, battle drill, patrolling and bivouac training. During the spring this training is culminated when the cadet corps participates in a field exercise which includes a tactical march and overnight bivouac.

Through participation in the ROTC six year Military Schools program, a cadet receives all necessary ROTC training to qualify for a Reserve Army Commission once he has attained a baccalaureate degree.

Wentworth is proud to be one of the original Honor Schools of the United States, the highest rating given by the Department of the Army.

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

Within Wentworth's Administration Building are handsomely furnished parlors, corridors and reception rooms. Among its furnishings and decorations students and guests alike find many articles of interest and rare beauty. Its comfortable furnishings amid peaceful surroundings afford a homelike atmosphere where the new cadet readily adapts himself to a wholesome, happy experience. Here in an atmosphere of quiet dignity, every student is privileged to entertain his guests or to spend his leisure moments as governed by his daily schedule. None of the comforts of the modern home have been excluded in Wentworth's plan to provide the finest training and quarters available.

About the CAMPUS

• A part of the Quadrangle.

• Memorial Chapel

Nature and man have joined forces at Wentworth to produce a campus of outstanding beauty. Magnificent trees, of many varieties, blend in perfect harmony with modern, attractive buildings and spacious grounds. The Academy is located just at the edge of Lexington and covers 52 acres. The front campus extends over four city blocks and is dotted with massive elms and glorious flower banks that provide enchantment and inspiration. The back campus includes athletic and military fields and the new stadium. There are ten thoroughly modern buildings on the campus, each built for the exact purpose it serves. They are of brick and stone construction and are heated by steam and hot water.

THE WENTWORTH COUNTRY CLUB

Located on one of the most beautiful spots overlooking the Missouri River, the Golf Course and Country Club add variety to the many facilities available to the Wentworth students. The nine-hole golf course is most attractive and sporty. The club house, with its catering equipment, is ideal for many informal parties held throughout the year. And in the stable are found horses suitable for the tyro as well as the expert rider.

• Teeing Up

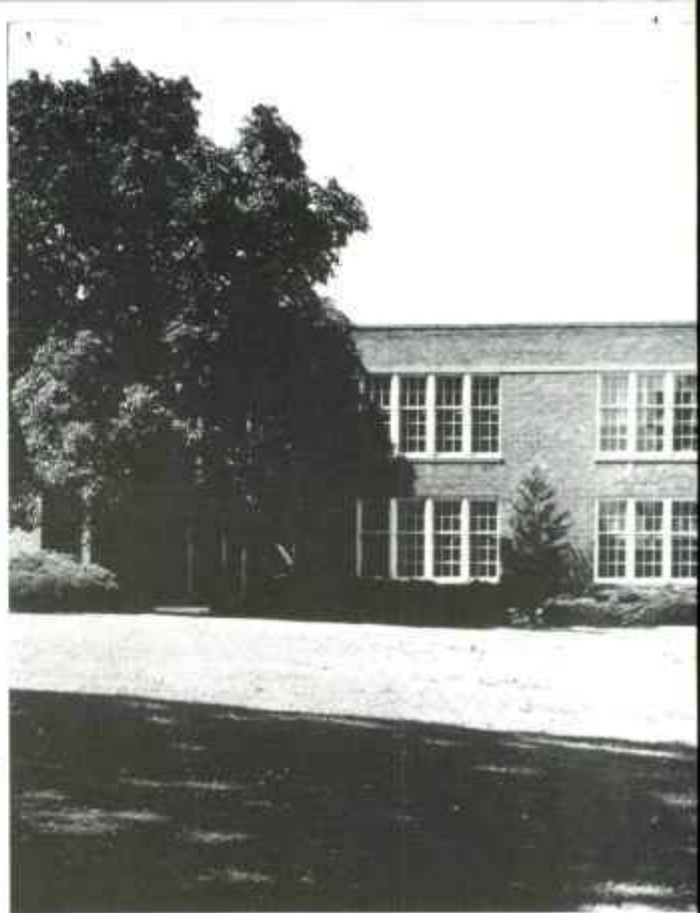

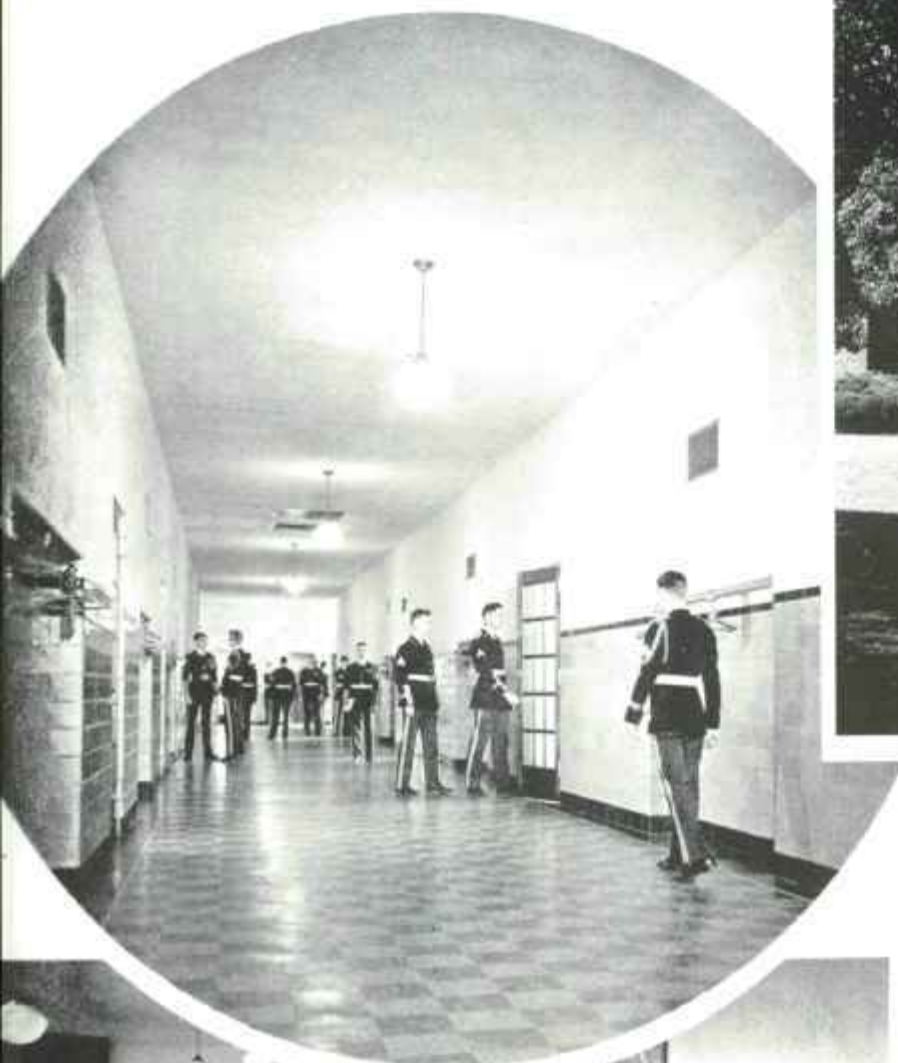

• Skeet Shooting Range

SCHOLASTIC

Wentworth's up-to-date Sellers - Wikoff Scholastic Building is the nucleus of the scholastic department. This magnificent structure contains one of the most splendid libraries possessed by any institution of this kind. Four completely equipped laboratories provide excellent facilities for the practical study of the sciences. In addition to classrooms for all classes, it houses the Dean's and Commandant's offices. It is with justifiable pride that Wentworth points to this new achievement in its effort to provide surroundings which are conducive to academic advancement.

* The attractive library contains thousands of volumes, providing every necessary supplement to the student's texts and manuals.

* Visual Aids are being used to a great extent to supplement lectures by instructors. The Academy has the best equipment available and has established a liberal budget for rental of motion pictures for class work.

* Sellers-Wikoff Scholastic Building.

Geology is a science of particular interest to boys of the midwest.

DEPARTMENT

The scholastic department is divided into two separate and distinct units: the high school, which offers four years of preparatory work, and the junior college, which offers two years of liberal arts and science. Each has its own organization separate from the other. Both divisions are fully accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, an organization composed of the leading colleges and preparatory schools in twenty states. This recognition means that graduates of either department are eligible to enter any institution in the United States that receives students by certification.

It is our aim to see that each cadet masters every lesson thoroughly. To accomplish this, every student is taught correct study methods and thoroughly schooled in correct uses of libraries and laboratories. Classes are small, which permits individual attention. Most of the faculty members live in the buildings with students. They are readily accessible for special help. From time to time a personal study is made of each cadet to determine his points of weakness and help him overcome them.

* The laboratory for elementary classes in chemistry provides many costly instruments not provided for in many schools but which Wentworth believes are important to the proper study of chemistry.

SANDFORD SELLERS

A valuable addition to the Wentworth campus is Sandford Sellers, Sr. Hall, a three-quarter million dollar air-conditioned junior college dormitory and kitchen and dining hall wing.

The building is named after the late Col. Sandford Sellers, Sr., president of Wentworth for 52 years. He was the father of Wentworth's present president, Col. James M. Sellers.

AVIATION

Wentworth participated in the Federal Aviation Agency Civilian Pilot Training Program from its inception in 1939 through the change to War Training Service until June, 1943, when all but 80 out of 712 colleges and universities throughout the country were eliminated due to curtailment of this type of training. However, the academy administration, believing aviation training to be very important now and in the future to the youth of the nation, secured permission from F.A.A. officials to continue flight training on a civilian basis and at the expense of the trainee.

Wentworth operates in conjunction with the ADD Aerial Service at the Lexington Airport as a certified flying school fully approved by the F.A.A. The flight training program, including ground school, far surpasses the minimum requirements set forth by the Federal Aviation Agency qualifying cadets for Private and Commercial Pilot Certificates. It consists of instruction in both dual and solo flight time.

The records of the graduates of the Wentworth Flight Training are outstanding. During the war the graduates of this training program fought on every front where Americans were in combat.

A DAY

AT WENTWORTH

NO TWO days at Wentworth are quite the same, for a widely varied program of scholastic, military, athletic and other activities is used to keep the interest of the cadets at high pitch and their appetites for learning well whetted. Furthermore, no two students have quite the same duties to perform throughout any given day. There is, however, a definite routine that all cadets follow each day. It is used to instill perfect regularity and promptness in attendance upon all duties prescribed for one and all cadets alike.

While it requires some adjustments for new students to become accustomed to this routine, any slight hint of monotony is soon lost in the kaleidoscopic whirl of the school year.

To give parents and others a better insight, the following pages have been used to set forth, pictorially, the day's activities from Reveille to Taps, of a typical Wentworth boy whom we will designate as Cadet Harlan.

The pictures in this section were taken several years ago. However, since they illustrate life at Wentworth of today, they are still timely. They are retained because so many of the cadets shown served in the Armed Forces of their country and so well illustrate the value of military training as received while at Wentworth.

Since the importance of military preparedness is becoming increasingly evident by the changing world situation, the training illustrated in this picture section has a special significance.

There have been some uniform changes as may be seen by referring to the section on Wentworth uniforms.

★ Harlan—a typical Wentworth cadet.

HERE is Harlan, a typical Wentworth cadet—a fine young American—manly, scholarly and upright. His respect for duty and responsibility has won for him the rank of sergeant. He may have come from a large city or a very small town—that makes no difference to the democratic spirit that prevails at Wentworth. He may be from a wealthy family or a family in meager circumstances—most of his classmates would never know, nor even be curious, unless he chose to tell them. But he typifies all the fine qualities of a deserving and ambitious youth as he goes through the tried and age-proved Wentworth process of becoming a real man, a real asset to himself, his family and friends, and society as a whole.

Harlan, like all the others, participates in many activities besides those shown. But let's follow him through a typical day.

★Harlan "Butch" Heffellinger, who graduated in the class of 1935 and posed as the model cadet in the view book, served as a Major in the last war and at present is a retired army officer in the state of California.

His brothers, Hugo and Arthur, also attended Wentworth. Hugo, a Major, served with distinction with the Rangers. Arthur served with the Navy Air Corps as an Ensign and presently teaches school in Missouri.

"I CAN'T GET 'EM UP," blows the bugler, but he does, and at 6:35 o'clock another day is under way. Cadet Harlan goes first to the sanitary lavatory on his floor. A good washup is part of the routine, for a cadet is expected to keep himself clean at all times. At 6:50 he goes to a well-prepared breakfast.

After breakfast, rooms must be cleaned. One of the basic aims of our system is to form personal habits of order. Each morning Harlan makes his own bed, puts his clothes in order and helps his roommate clean the room.

* Harlan makes up his own bed.

Strict inspection of quarters is a daily routine. Formal inspection of Harlan's person, room and equipment occurs on Sunday morning. At this time unusual care must be taken in cleaning the room. Our friend sees that hidden corners are carefully dusted, chairs polished, and everything put in order. Then he takes care of his person. There's brass to shine, leather to polish, hair to brush, and whiskers to be removed. A certain time is allotted for this preparation and all work must be done within that time. This young fellow knows that any deficiency in this work receives what is known in Academy language as a "skin"—which counts against one's company in color competition.

AT 8 O'CLOCK in the morning, classes convene. Harlan makes his way to a small class on his schedule where personal attention is his at any time it is needed. Our cadet is carefully instructed in the handling of delicate scientific equipment. He is not forced to grope blindly for information. That which is true of the science laboratories is equally true in all other classrooms.

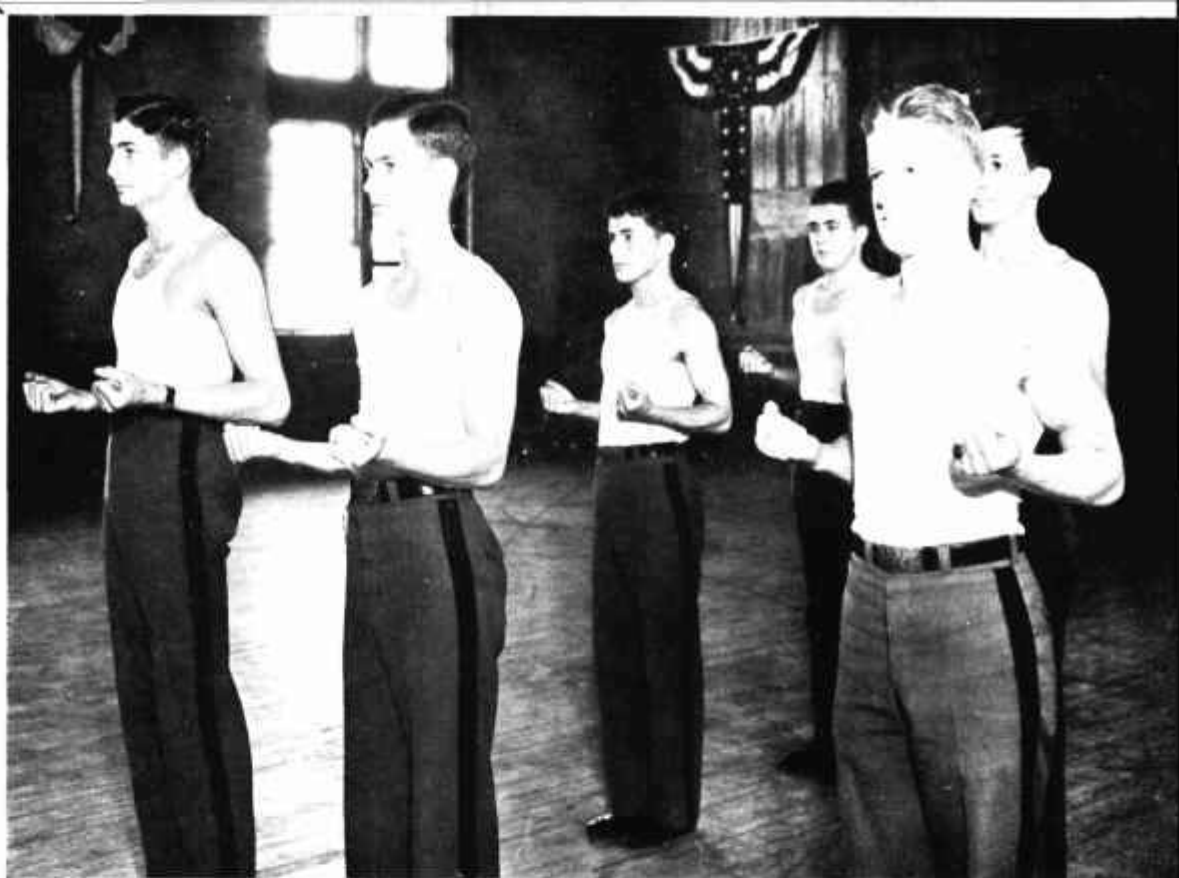

Time passes rapidly in the classroom or laboratory because the work is interesting. The scholastic day is divided into two equal parts, with four classes in the morning and two in the afternoon.

CALISTHENICS play an important role in the physical education of Cadet Harlan. No effort is made to indulge in this or any other exercise in the early morning hours when the body is at its lowest ebb. All such exercises are taken by our cadet after a hearty breakfast and morning classes. The exercises are intended to promote graceful movement as well as better health. The calisthenics used by the United States Army are followed. They are led by senior cadet officers.

So long as the weather permits, the calisthenics are held in the open, but they are taken in the large gymnasium, where an entire battalion may take part at the same time, when rain or cold is in the air.

Cadet Lieutenant Jack Remdell commanding the platoon shown in these two views, participated as an officer in the landing on North Africa. He was decorated with the Silver Star for heroism in action and Purple Heart.

DRILL is a very formal affair. It is on the drill field that Harlan learns much of courtesy, discipline and alertness. He, with his entire battalion, is thoroughly schooled in good citizenship, taught the proper respect for superiors and trained in leadership.

Learning to drill a squad is the first training in leadership. Throughout the year squad drill and competition is a part of the regular military routine. The squad is the smallest military unit and consists of nine to twelve men, two of whom are sergeants. All instruction is conducted by cadets under the personal supervision of members of the military faculty.

Although military work takes but one hour each day, the training is intensive and much more thorough than that found in larger units. Personal attention is given the individual cadet on the military field as well as in the classroom, and each cadet has an equal chance to advance to important positions in Wentworth's military realm. In the army, the navy and the marine corps Wentworth is glorified by its alumni who have received their commissions and are distinguishing themselves in official capacities of these respective branches of service.

Like many other cadets, Harlan finds the extended order drill more interesting. This drill consists of combat methods. He is taught to make use of cover, to advance and to fire. No actual firing is done during this drill, however, for all the ammunition used is dummy material. Initiative and leadership are required in this work. Situations arising in the problems furnished by the Department of the Army call for quick thinking and immediate action.

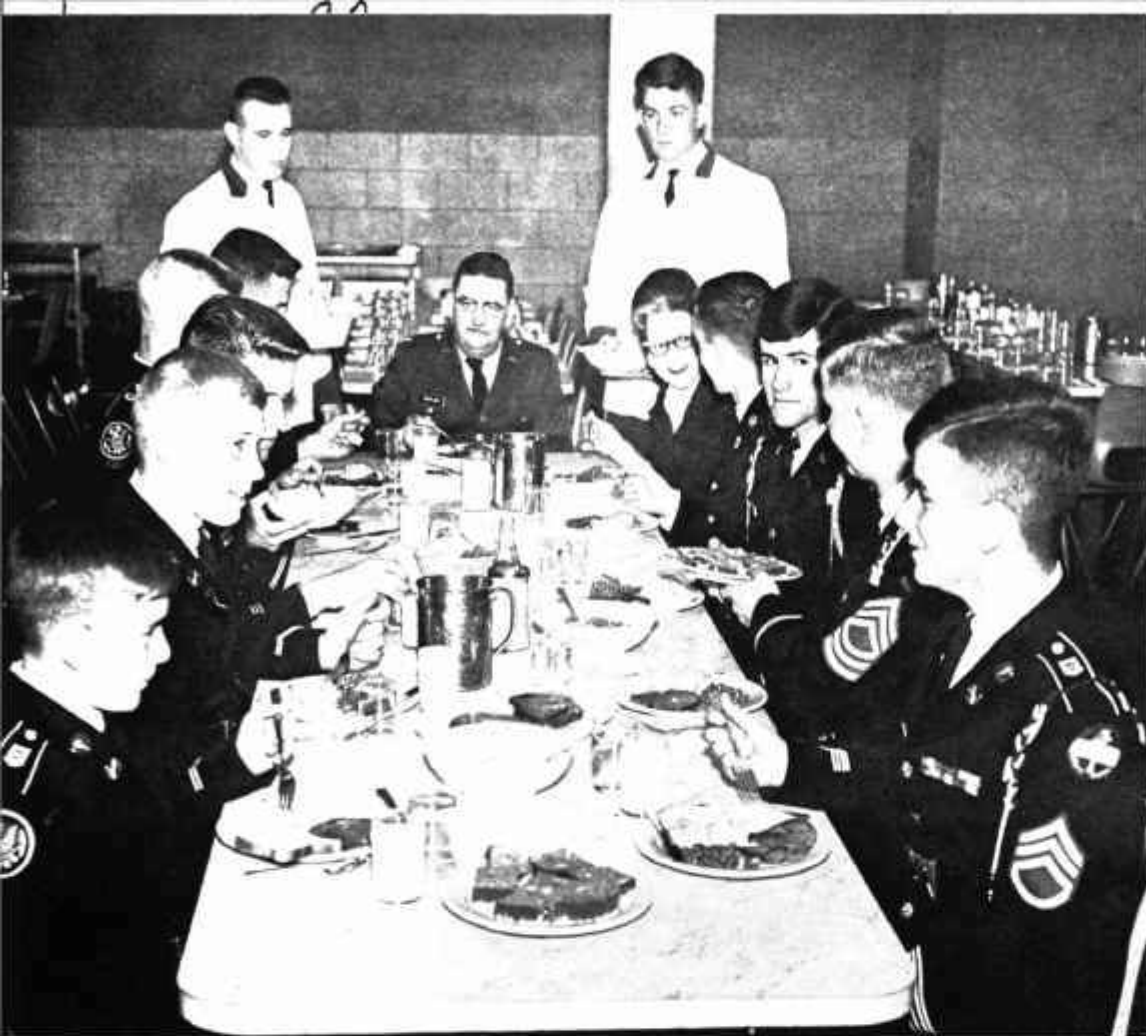

Here our typical cadet finds extended order drill interesting and instructive.

The Cadet Officer using the field glasses was Captain Woodrow Wylie, U. S. Army, who participated in the fight on Bataan.

The cadet about to insert the cartridge in his rifle is Lieut.-Colonel Milton Moran, U. S. Marine Air Corps. He participated in considerable action in the South Pacific.

*Eating—an always-popular "sport" with Harlan and his fellow cadets! Meal time is always a time for good food and good fellowship.

The Faculty Officer at the head of the table is Major Robert D. Hepler, assistant dean. The lady is his wife, Mrs. Beth Hepler, the academy's hostess and social director.

FOLLOWING the morning classes comes lunch time and our cadet is ready to eat. Academy menus are always varied and pleasing. Meals are carefully planned to suit the needs of all cadets. They are healthful and nutritious and just what active, hard-working boys require. Meal times are at 7:00 in the morning, 12:10 and 6:10. This schedule is varied only on Sunday, when dinner becomes a more elaborate meal served at 12:30.

After dinner there is a recreation period during which Harlan and other cadets may do pretty much as they choose. The recreation room is a popular place at this time.

*(Right) Our friend attends an assembly in chapel period, held twice each week.

*(Below) "We must get in there and fight!" says Harlan as he makes a short "pep" talk on the eve of a game.

CADET HARLAN attends interesting, informative and inspirational meetings in the chapel, immediately before lunch on Wednesdays and Saturdays. These meetings are conducted by the Academy Chaplain, but are not strictly religious. Travel talks, health lectures, scientific demonstrations and short sermons, presented by outstanding speakers, are frequently on the program. The service is opened with a hymn, prayer and responsive readings, and closed with the singing of "Wentworth," the Academy song.

"Pep" meetings, preceding important athletic contests, are held in the gymnasium. These are always occasions of great fun. Students and faculty make rousing speeches. The cadet band furnishes gay, martial music and everyone anticipates the big game on the morrow. Athletic contests are important recreational events. Every cadet attends them.

*While a majority of the faculty members live in the barracks with cadets, some live in residences such as this on the campus.

*All shined up for Sunday inspection.

In this picture, the Tactical Officer, James Simmons, graduate of Wentworth, is now a Colonel in the United States Army. He participated in the capture of Attu, Kiska, Kwajalein, Leyte, Okinawa and Occupation of Korea.

Next to him, Lieutenant Orman, paratrooper, who took part in the Sicilian campaign and the capture of Naples. On the right, Captain James L. Gist, Army Aviator.

PERSONAL attention is not confined to the classroom nor to the evening study periods. Harlan and many other cadets seek assistance in the spacious Academy library. The faculty officer in charge is always ready and willing to help any student, no matter what his problem. Whatever the subject, the faculty officer is qualified to give the guidance needed.

Wentworth's library is one of the most important places on the campus. It contains more than 10,000 books on nearly every subject one could imagine. Reference books include the famous Oxford English Dictionary and many sets of encyclopedias.

*In winter months our boy turns his attention to basketball and other indoor sports.

TRAINING for leadership is important on the football field as well as everywhere else at Wentworth. More than fifty cadets answer the varsity call each year and large squads turn out for company teams. All players receive intensive training, both in the art of the game and in clean sportsmanship.

Football ranks as the number one sport and the Red Dragon elevens are consistent winners. The fine spirit of players and corps is credited with being a strong determining factor in every contest.

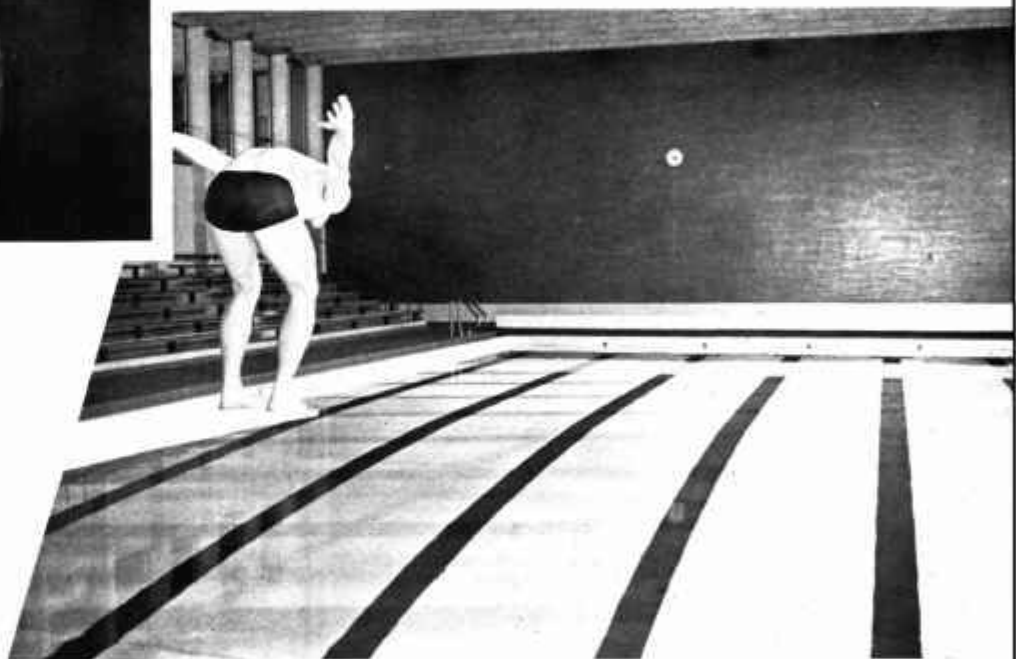

In the winter months basketball comes into the spotlight. Again there are the varsity and company teams and a place for every cadet who desires to play. Home games are played in the spacious field house where there are three courts and ample space for spectators.

Wentworth is a member of the Junior College Interstate conference, an athletic association numbering seven schools as members. The Wentworth High School teams are members of the Missouri River Valley conference at this time. Almost every major and minor sports are on the Wentworth program—all played under competent coaches—and every cadet is required to participate.

★ A view of the west entrance to the new Student Union Building. This facility contains an informal dance floor, meeting rooms, cadet officers lounge, two recreation rooms, ham radio installation and two sound proof Combo rooms.

THE sparkling, crystal-clear water of the swimming pool is inviting to cadets the year 'round. The pool is an official olympic size and is the scene of frequent water sports and aquatic meets. It is the purpose to teach every cadet to swim well. The water is warmed to a healthful temperature and kept pure by efficient filtration and chemical treatment.

*(Above) Harlan and his friends tune in a radio program during the recreation period immediately following the evening meal. (Note the habit of listening to the radio has not changed but we are sure the music has a great deal.)

*The orchestra provides musical diversion both for members of the group and the corps.

* (Below) Perfect study conditions prevail in Harlan's room. (Note the newest type of lamps are presently in use.)

Just before the evening study period is the favorite tune-in time for Cadet Harlan and other radio devotees. Permission to have a radio in the room is regarded a privilege, the abuse of which causes the student to lose this favor.

After thirty-five minutes of recreation following the supper hour, evening study is begun at 7 o'clock. Each cadet retires to his own room for a two-hour period of quiet. There is no stuffy, noisy hall in which cadets are confined. Instead, individual initiative is encouraged. Faculty officers are in constant attendance throughout the period, giving advice where it is needed and encouragement at all times.

TAPS, at which time all lights must be turned out and all cadets remain quiet, is sounded at 10 o'clock. The soft notes of the bugle call to close the activities of an eventful day and the peace of slumber envelops healthy young bodies until another dawn.

*Quiet descends and another day is ended for our busy cadet. Sleep . . . sweet, restful sleep.

WENTWORTH UNIFORMS

The Wentworth uniforms are made of the finest materials. Beautifully fitted, they are suitable for every occasion, and they include every item a cadet may need.

* The Fatigue uniform — and reincoat.

* Athletic uniform and semi-dress without blouse.

The purpose of this book has been to give you an accurate, but necessarily inadequate glimpse of the Wentworth Military Academy and cadet life. In order fully to appreciate the Academy, it will be necessary for you to visit the campus in person, see the beautiful grounds and buildings and meet members of the faculty. # CADET MEMORIES 1971-72

September 4 — Enrolled today. It's good to see some of the guys that are back, but not so much fun shelling out the bread for all those books.

September 5 — Got to sleep in, this morning because we didn't have mandatory church. Sure felt sorry for all those new boys learning how to march, salute, and all the other trimmings.

September 6 — Labor Day — and we sure did. 6:25 came awfully early this morning. Breakfast hasn't changed any either. All my classes are quite small this year, which makes it a little more interesting.

September 7 — Already, the teachers are piling on the homework. And here comes War and Peace for the next 12 weeks. Mix that in with the Iliad, and you have real good time figuring out who's who.

September 8 — First assembly — seems strange with Colonel Ungles at the microphone. And first drill in 100% weather! What a bummer!

September 9 — Late BRC, and how welcome it was! Got a lot of sleep because I only had one class.

September 10 — T.G.I.F.! And a slight release from teachers, but they double the home work.

September 11 — First chapel and it hasn't changed any. Had a beautiful day today. Also saw the carnival that's in town for the annual Fall Festival.

September 12 — Saw "Love Story" for the second time today. Certainly has quite an impact. First parade — the new boys still need a lot of practice. Got to study.

September 13 — Another Monday, and all the teachers are plotting their tests for Friday, and Mrs. Rugh begins her War and Peace mixed in with a "dab" of the Iliad. Some combination!!

September 14 — Just another day . . . not too much going on.

September 15 — Just announcements at assembly and drill was really a hassle. We had to practice for parade, then get permanent seats in the mess hall.

September 16 — Had body "inspection" today and it covered everything. No morning classes though, so I was free nearly all day.

September 17 — Late BRC, and a test in Psych, and a nasty one on the first 37 pages of the multi-peopled W. and P. Think I did okay tho' — but then I can always look forward to a calculus test on Monday.

September 18 — Last night the high school football team was wiped out by the much-bigger Slater team. The J.C. team did a good game against Haskell, even though they lost, 6-20. Nobody scored the second half.

September 19 — I was really impressed with how much everyone had improved in parade today and the band sounded really decent.

September 20 — The Calc. test was a bummer . . . and have a nasty one on the Iliad tomorrow. Never lets up.

September 21 — Not really too much going on. Already school is getting old. So is 6:00 a.m. nearly every morning!

September 22 — Got to make some good grades — Dad said he'd pay $5 for every "A" on the six weeks grades and $10 for each time it's repeated! Good deal.

September 23 — I like Thursdays — sleep late, only one class, and you know the week's almost over.

September 24 — Mr. "Wise Old Owl" is kind enough to tape some of my albums for W., so O'Leary can't yell about that.

September 25 — Beautiful weather — hope it lasts. W. and I had a picnic out at Lion's Club Lake — good times . . .

September 26 — I'm awfully glad I don't have to march — especially in parade! But then, I'm different anyway.

September 27 — Another Monday — I'm looking forward to this week end. A dance — and there's supposed to be a pretty good band.

September 28 — The reason I haven't mentioned the football teams is because they have not won a game yet, but it's early still. The corps' spirit is discouraging enough. Guess just no interest.

September 29 — Wish someone could cut Will's hair, right! Some (most) everyone would look better with hair just a little longer.

September 30 — Gee! A whole month is gone. But I got a lot left. Darnit. Oh well . . . someday . . .

October 1 — T.G.I.F. and all that. Ought to be a really good dance tomorrow night. I believe the "White Lead" are playing.

October 2 — The dance was good, except it was a "closed door" dance, which means you couldn't leave the student union. That was kind of a bummer because it got pretty hot inside there.

October 3 — Parade hasn't changed any — pretty good crowd. Rank sheets ought to be coming out soon.

October 4 — Another Monday, only this one's even worse. It marks the end of a six-weeks period.

October 5 — Everyone is sweating already, worrying about grades. Gotta study.

October 6 — Tests and drill just don't go together. Not much else.

October 7 — Slept some this afternoon, so I could stay up and "crum" tonight.

October 8 — Got an S in Psych, but can't tell about any of the others. Glad it's OVER!

October 9 — Was lazy and enjoyed today. Been having beautiful weather.

October 10 — Another Sunday. W and I went to church and found out he has to be baptized.

October 11 — Got sick after first hour, so I went back to bed. Guess I was just tired.

October 12 — Barely missed an A in English. Gets kind of discouraging sometimes, you know?

October 13 — Saw "Evil Knievel" tonight with W. It was pretty good, but I can't see risking your life like that!

October 14 — Don't know what I'd do without late BRC. And a new one! Saturday breakfast is not mandatory anymore!!!

October 15 — Only two more weeks 'til Dad's Day, then one more week 'til Homecoming. First thing you know, it'll be Christmas!! Count the days!

October 16 — Another enjoyable Saturday, but had a slight stomach-ache. Hope it's not the flu.

October 17 — Still feeling kind of 'icky', and can't really afford to miss school. Carried rifles in parade today.

October 18 — Got really sick in the night and had a temperature, so I'm in the hospital. Got W kind of worried for just a second but nothing serious.

October 19 — Tuesday. They thought at first that I might've had appendicitis, but finally decided it was intestinal flu. Glad it was nothing worse. Nice vacation from school.

October 20 — Out today, but don't have to go back to school 'til Friday. Ah — blissful sleep. Will was baptized tonight!!

October 21 — Homecoming is November 6 this year and Dad's Day is the 30th of October. That's going to be kind of bad with 3 weeks grade period ending on the 30th also.

October 22 — Bless the Fridays. So far, the Phi Theta Kappa seems to be doing real well on the movie business. Now if they just pick some good movies.

October 23 — I feel awfully sorry for those poor football teams. They just can't get it together.

October 24 — I'll sure be glad when this week is over. Seems like a 3 wks. grade period comes once a week.

October 25 — Why doesn't the "Monday Holiday Bill" cover the schools? It very definitely should. Yoga at Assembly.

October 26 — I hear there is another fraternity being started. Is that right, Lieutenant? Sounds good.

October 27 — It's days like today that make Christmas vacation seem so far away — 70 degrees — must be Indian Summer.

October 28 — Everyone seems to be getting extremely anxious for this week end. Hope the weather stays nice.

October 29 — It looks like there are quite a few dads here already. But even the added support didn't win the game.

October 30 — The banquet was rated excellent tonight and the comedian was certainly a surprise. So was the food.

October 31 — Parade was really crowded today and the guys really looked sharp... and October is over, too!

November 1 — Two months down and seven to go. People are already beginning to plan for next semester. Wonder if Capt. Maring will lose any calc. students.

November 2 — Phi Theta Kappa seems to be doing a profitable business so far. Hope they can keep it up. Had a "heck" of a test yesterday on Dante.

November 3 — Ah... Wednesday again... sometimes I'd really like to see what drill is like. From some rumors I hear, it sounds pretty easy.

November 4 — Sometimes the weeks go by so slowly. This is the big Homecoming week end and things are movin' right on.

November 5 — The H. S. football team went to Kemper in the traditional battle that takes place. Unfortunately, we didn't quite make it.

November 6 — The J. C.'s played a real good game and tried their best — but... the dance was terrific with "The Broadway Clique."

November 7 — Recuperation and parting day for most every one.

November 8 — Recuperation day continued. Today was a tough one to get through.

November 9 — Not-much-of-anything day.

November 10 — Just 36 more days til Christmas Vacation or so I've heard. Everyone is getting pretty anxious.

November 11 — There is something rotten about a Thursday in having to get up for a 10:00 class. Least I'm lucky enough not to have to attend breakfast.

November 12 — They've decided on having a Wentworth annual next year — no more Harlan or memoirs — can you believe it?!

November 13 — Beautiful sleepy Saturday. I'm awfully glad God made week ends for students.

November 13 — You know, for as small as the band is this year, it sounds really good.

November 15 — Yeck... another "3 weeks" test period where teachers believe it is an unalienable right to pile all tests on the same day. It's plotted, I tell you.

November 16 — Get my first "furlough" in 2 years. Going up to check out Northeast Missouri State teachers college next Monday; but as Capt. Maring says "miss one day and you're a week behind."

November 17 — Found out my brother is coming next week. I guess that's not too bad after not seeing him for a year and a half.

November 18 — Here come the tests. I think all the teachers decided to "break away" from the old "last-minute" routine and give their tests on Wednesday and Thursday.

November 19 — Operation "Testing" still in heavy working order.

November 20 — Thought today would never end. Relaxed tonight.

November 21 — Getting pretty excited about tomorrow. Stay overnight 2 nights in the dorm and come home Wednesday. Glad it's the first week of a 3 weeks.

November 22 — Talked to all kinds of people today. Directors, finance people, registrars, deans, house mothers, girls, boys, the whole works!

November 23 — It's really nice up here — so beautiful to be able to relax and watch everyone else run around and get excited.

November 24 — Guess what! I finally made it to 19. Wasn't really planning on it. Surprised I made it thru the day.

November 25 — Happy Thanksgiving... to all those who have reason to give thanks.

November 26 — Today was a downer for some reason. Sorry 'bout that.

November 27 — Heard we're having finals beginning December 7-11. Thanks to the push of a few bright guys and their ability to cooperate with the "Establishment".

November 28 — Didn't do a whole lot today.

November 29 — Just 17 more days... til freedom. Please hurry. Wish it was real freedom.

November 30 — Three down and I don't want to count the rest.

December 1 — What a bummer — these 3 weeks come faster than ever and it'll be as really nasty a one, what with finals.

December 2 — STUDY — I detest that word...

December 3 — Everyone is really getting uptight about next week. And Tom F. just complains because he studies for finals during Christmas vacation... Some people...

December 4 — Relaxed a little bit today.

December 5 — Continued studying — although I'm only terrified of the outcome — that's no reason to study so diligently.

December 6 — Help...

December 7 — One down and three to go. Five pages of D.E. (diligent effort) ought to be enough for an A — wouldn't you think?

December 8 — Another five pages of D.E. for Mama R. this time. I believe her essay questions will be a legend around here by the time she finishes with us.

December 9 — Golly gee whiz — one day to recuperate before the final blitz session.

December 10 — There should be a law against calculus finals. Every test in that class is a final in itself. This mind is totally short-circuited — this week has been a recording. Thank you... this week has been a recording. Thank you... this week has been.

December 11 — Santa Claus came tonight — bit early, tho. But he was very welcome and the party he threw seemed to be enjoyed by all.

December 12 — Rest and revival day. Four more days!!!

December 13 — Some of the lucky ones got to start leaving today. Some people.

December 14 — Everyone is all jumpy, excited, happy.

December 15 — Today seemed like 240 hours long — what a drag.

December 16 — Finally...

January 3 — Needless to say, this is one bad day. But that can only mean that most everyone had a pretty decent vacation.

January 4 — Considering I've been working since the 21st of December, it doesn't even seem like there's been a rest period. The nice thing is to know that finals are over.

January 5 — You know, this place (and masterpieces) is going to dull considerably after Slaven leaves. He should be awarded a "pro-rhetoric" medal for giving the best arguments.

January 6 — Seems like we might as well have had finals now — being threatened with 3-weeks grade just isn't really an incentive to study somehow.

January 7 — How one appreciates a Friday after unsuccessfully trying to get back into old school habits. Year is almost half gone.

January 8 — Took a trip today — it was really warm for January.

January 9 — Went to early Mass this morning — couldn't believe it. Went back to sleep too. But at least, I feel a bit more virtuous.

January 10 — Mind-bender today.

January 11 — There should be a law against 3-weeks tests every three weeks. Got to check into some colleges soon.

January 12 — All the pictures for the queen candidates are in — except there's one missing that's usually in there — wonder where she is???

January 13 — Everyone seems to be getting pretty excited, scared, or worried as the Ball draws near. It ought to be fun.

January 14 — These dumb tests are really a pain. They make you so frustrated because they have so much importance attached to them.

January 15 — Finally! Half the year is gone. Never to return. Although when I think back on it, it has gone rather fast.

January 16 — Nothing like a day off. I mean, when you get to work six days a week, it's nice to know you've got one day to recuperate and gather strength.

January 17 — Let's hope the second half goes as quickly as the first half did.

January 18 — Nothing much going on. Some days are like that, tho'.

January 19 — Wish this week end would hurry up!

January 20 — The queens have been picked — Who are they?

January 21 — The girls are arriving and it's like turning lambs out to slaughter, with some of these guys. You'd think the girls were on parade.

January 22 — The Field House is the nicest it has ever looked and the Ball was really something. The queens weren't bad — most of them around 16 years old, I guess. And the guys looked so proud showing off their girls.

January 23 — Tired, but happy and satisfied. That was about everybody's feeling today.

January 24 — What a drag Monday again.

January 25 — Now the announcements are coming about the Wentworth Show. Hope I can get off work that week end. Doubt it.

January 26 — Seems like the week following a good week end always goes so slowly.

January 27 — Well, this month is just about over, then we've only got four months left and only one month and six days 'til furlough.

January 28 — The basketball teams unfortunately haven't been doing too well, but they need a little more backing, you guys.

January 29 — Lazy day — for some — others have to work, even on Saturdays.

January 30 — Time is dragging really slow around here — nothing going on at all.

January 31 — Cripes! Three weeks tests coming again. Everyone'll have their chance to see how tough their new courses really are.

February 1 — Seems like with the start of each month, I wish it, the month, was already over. At least, this one's a bit shorter than most.

February 2 — Some of these guys really hate drill, especially when they have to be kept indoors. WMA could use a good phys. ed. program — they've got good equipment, but it's so hard to find time to use it.

February 3 — If you guys want some good hints on how females operate, read G. B. Shaw's Man and Superman and take it seriously; never make the mistake of thinking you're too smart for a girl. That's fatal.

February 4 — Think I did okay for those 3 weeks. I don't mind my classes so much — Maybe it's just that three semesters of math is enough to do most people in, and I find myself passively sitting through the fourth semester. It'd be nice if teachers had the decency to miss a day occasionally.

February 5 — You know — there is something very nauseating about having to work on a Saturday — just spoils your whole day.

February 6 — Sunday's can be very interesting if you're up to something.

February 7 — It's sad to see everyone down on a day like today. Seems like the sun hasn't shone for ages. Maybe we need a hit.

February 8 — Some of these so-called "great novels" simply astound me; try one where 98% of the people are retarded and the one guy who isn't, is put into an insane asylum (he also has E.S.P.). The main goal in the book is to cart a dead body (Unembalmed) forty miles in the middle of July, in a horse cart! That's As I Lay Dying. If you want to understand it, take Masterpieces.

February 9 — They've decided to have a dance after the Wentworth Show. It sounds like a good idea. Now if I didn't have to work...

February 10 — It's strange to sit and remember how you've changed in just a couple of years. I just wish it wasn't such a struggle to grow up, but I guess maybe it's the struggling that makes you grow.

February 11 — The sun hasn't shown yet and it seems like everything is on a downer. Next week's really going to be bad, because the store opens Tuesday.

February 12 — It snowed somethin' awful today and was so foggy. It'd be nice to curl up on a big fluffy rug in front of a fire.

February 13 — Getting ready for a tough week. With the store opening Tuesday, I'll have to work from the minute I'm out of school 'til 10:00 p.m. What a bummer!

February 14 — Oh gee! Valentine's Day. I never would've known it.

February 15 — I was just thinking... what with Mother's Day and Father's Day, there should be a children's day.

February 16 — Yesterday was something else. The weather was really nice for a change and the store was absolutely packed with people. I even woke up in the night and found myself counting change back to customers — weird.

February 17 — This is a no-mind week. Hope things go well tomorrow at the Wentworth Show. The acts seem to have shaped up pretty well.

February 18 — From what I heard, the show was exceptionally good. Wish I could have been there. It often reveals talents no one ever knew existed.

February 19 — This week has been a steady pressure and thank whoever was responsible for Sundays for creating them as days of REST.

February 20 — I can see the old grades are going to drop his 6 weeks. I haven't had time to even open a book, much less look at it; but then maybe, I'll get an "A" for good behavior. Hah!

February 21 — Back to the old grind. Least, nothing is boring right now — don't even have time to think.

February 22 — It'll be nice next year to go to a school where you don't feel like you're having finals every 3 weeks. At least this keeps you constantly aware of just how you're doing.

February 23 — Got in 40 hours of work last week, plus school. Guess I'll appreciate the $ tho' when payday comes around.

February 24 — These late BRC's are a blessing except for those who have a fifth hour.

February 25 — End of six-weeks. Only 12 more weeks! Actually, this year seems to have gone fairly fast.

February 26 — I think the optional breakfast idea is the best they've come up with this year. Now all they need is permanent optional breakfast.

February 27 — It seems like on Sundays you do all the things you haven't had time to do the rest of the week; then you start Monday off, tired from Sunday.

February 28 — Only 3 more days 'til spring break. And everyone's more than ready for it!

February 29 — Gosh! I get a whole $1.02 back from State taxes. They don't return it if it's under a dollar. February is over with! 3 months to go!

March 1 — Well, March is coming in like a lion — hope it quits snowing before everyone leaves.

March 2 — Some vacation I'll get — more work . . . There is so much I plan to get caught up on, but probably won't. Hope everyone has a nice vacation.

March 13 — It's back to the drawing board.

March 14 — The "W" Club Dance is supposed to be the 25th of March. It's awfully hard to get back into the habit of school.

March 15 — It's strange how I don't mind coming to school in the mornings anymore. Wonder why that could be??

March 16 — Mom's birthday. I like birthdays. It gives you a chance to do things for special people.

March 17 — There's just something about having to work on Friday and Saturday nights — here you've struggled to make it through the week and you end up going to work. That's a bummer.

March 18 — Bummer today. Had to work and someone came down. Some days aren't even worth getting up for.

March 19 — Things are just going along today — I'll be glad when this year is over with.

March 20 — "Myia" had been going to play for the dance Saturday, but they ran into a bit of trouble, so some other group is coming.

March 21 — Even though it is supposed to be spring now, it feels like mid-winter. It's getting really depressing around here — the "post-furlough" blues, I guess.

March 22 — Have to work Saturday night so I guess we'll have to go late, darn it . . .

March 23 — Tests again. Supposed to go to Rochester, Minn., for the Phi Theta Kappa National Convention this year. Hope we can.

March 24 — I think I did okay on all my tests. I sure would like a 4.0 point for this 3 weeks.

March 25 — The dance was really a lot of fun — especially with all the guys in their civies. Only trouble was that it was a closed-door dance and that makes it awfully hot.

March 26 — Today was kind of tight, but after parade, it was a lot of fun.

March 27 — Only a couple more months to go — and people are really counting the days. Seems like it'll never end.

March 28 — Been thinking about quitting work. It's getting rough — not the work, but simply having to make myself get up and go at 5:00 every night. Tends to be a drag.

March 29 — It seems like this whole month has been cloudy; everyone has a disposition to match.

March 30 — There must be something about having it snow at the end of March. It's horrible.

March 31 — Just a regular day — but TGIF!! And March is over!!

April 1 — People nowadays must take life more seriously — didn't see one single joke played today.

April 2 — Sundays are nice to share with a friend you like. It starts the week off better!

April 3 — I am dying to quit work before the AUSA dance — the last dance I couldn't go to til 10:00 because of work, and it was so enjoyable, I'd like to see all of this one.

April 4 — Been watching the Cale I guys and all their work seems so simple. I wish I was in that class again — maybe I'd make a decent grade.

April 5 — Heavens — gave my two weeks notice to quit work and I'm so excited — I don't know what I'll do with all that freedom. Besides miss the paychecks!

April 6 — Found out, we can't go to Rochester because of G.I. inspection the 10th and 6-weeks tests that week — that is a real bummer.

April 7 — Some people sure are spoiled — maybe they need a few good zaps to help straighten them out.

April 8 — Red letter day. Indescribably delicious!

April 9 — It's good to feel this way, only 3 more days of work and then I can spend my free time in a much more enjoyable way.

April 10 — No classes (Pleasant change), but the military got to have their kicks for a day. At least the place gets cleaned up good once a year.

April 11 — Picture Day. Warning to anyone considering Master pieces class: be a speed-reader and be able to figure out symbolism in stories like "The Boy Who Drew Cats" . . . Short stories are a pain.

April 12 — Last day of work!!! What can I say?!

April 13 — Such a beautiful feeling to watch 5:00 p.m. approach and realize you can stay home and have something besides a peanut-butter sandwich for dinner!

April 14 — Sometimes one does things without ever fully realizing why, but simply knowing it must be done despite its disagreeableness. I guess these things you do and just pray it turns out for the best.

April 15 — The AUSA dance was okay, and it was nice to know you're done for another 6-weeks and you can relax a bit.

April 16 — You know what? Anticipation is sweeter than fulfillment. I guess that's because you can allow your fantasy to enter into the picture.

April 17 — Teachers should have to turn in grades Monday mornings, so certain enthusiastic English teachers don't get carried away and feel they have to give a test on Mondays.

April 18 — It seems rather unorthodox for someone practicing without a license to be able to "cheat" on one. But I guess, if you're spoiled to begin with, you take it for granted that it's a right. Is that true, Doc?

April 19 — realize Springtime is the time for romance, but I thought majors were immune to it. If not, they should learn pretty quick. It's getting pretty deep around here.

April 20 — It's nice to forget about grades and all that for awhile and just let things go. Now, if it'd just warm up!

April 21 — Got to go down to M.U. next week and check it out. Hope I can get some kind of scholarship — somehow I'm just not missing going to work anyhow.

April 22 — Some days are good, but others really stand out and this is definitely one of them.

April 23 — I could really get into today. New experiences fascinate me. Bet I'll be tired, but happy tomorrow.

April 24 — I could sleep for 24 hours, easily! And this coming week end, we go to Tan-Tar-A. The Phi Theta Kappa does anyhow. Then it'll be "hit-the-books" time.

April 25 — Finally finished reading "The Godfather." That is one book you don't get tired of, even though it's long. It's got constant action — hope I can see the movie.

April 26 — You know, for those rooms costing 30-some-odd dollars a night, they must be pretty good. Sure hope so!

April 27 — Can hardly wait!

April 28 — It's so beautiful down here. Went out to eat tonight, complete with dance band and the whole works. The lake, or the part we're on, is unbelievable. All the others are certainly relaxed and enjoying everything!

April 29 — Rained during the night, but clear blue skies today. Can't even get from doing dishes down here. We all fixed a huge breakfast and still could've had more. Went boating, got around to the go-carts and cycles and Foster got it together and messed up. He's feeling better now. I'm sure — Went ice-skating. Someone should've had a camera to record Capt. Lane's short aerial flight and crash landing!

April 30 — Exhausted . . .

May 1 — I can hardly believe it's finally May! Everyone is acutely aware of how many days there are left, as teachers try to cram the rest of the book into the next 3 weeks.

May 2 — I could really stand about two weeks at Tan-Tar-A right now. Wish I could catch up on my shut-eye.

May 3 — Can you believe it? I bought a $25.00 bird cage for my two stupid parakeets. They'd darn well better appreciate it.

May 4 — Even though no 3-weeks are given, the teachers are so set in their ways that they still give tests.

May 5 — I feel like I've got to recuperate from the last 2 or 3 week ends. Brought my Calc grade up and won a bet!

May 6 — Somehow I appreciated staying home and sleeping for a change.

May 7 — I have a lot of respect for a lot of the guys here at Wentworth. They're away from family, friends and freedom; but at the same time, they are being forced to accept and learn how to handle responsibility. If I had a son here doing his share, I'd be extremely proud of him, because I don't believe parents understand the pressure their sons are under.

May 8 — First red rose . . . That means quite a lot.

May 9 — Here's an E.S.P. double zap to carry you through the day, doc. Some days, everyone needs a zap to help them along.

May 10 — Just a normal Wednesday and finally got some sun-bathing done. Feels good!

May 11 — Well, the days keep truckin' right on — Only have one comprehensive final — nice!

May 12 — M.U. got out today — wish I was a grad down there!

May 13 — Dad's birthday. Band went to Iowa. Probably march in the rain.

May 14 — Mother's Day. Now all we need is Children's Day!

May 15 — Hey, Barb — how's it feel to get all those d's laid on you in one hour?!!

May 16 — It seems as if time is really dragging its feet right now, the way everyone is counting the days. But you get down to the last week and it'll fly because there'll be so much to do.

May 17 — I'll be glad when those darn tests are over with. Maybe some people can RELAX, then.

May 19 — Went over to Higginsville and just relaxed after the two finals I had today.

May 20 — Took a little trip up the road and found some beautiful people there.

May 21 — Had a beautiful day today. Simply indescribable!

May 22 — Just had Spanish today. At least during finals, it's good not to have any other tests.

May 23 — Last test. For three months anyhow. I feel like my brain needs on the Welfare program! Went to Kansas City, got lost (with some help: yes, Clyde?) and had a flat tire, too. Such fun.

May 24 — Hoping on those grades. Must be fun to get a 4-point for semester . . . I'll never know.

May 25 — Sophomore Skip Day! Pure bliss . . . It's Nice to wake up to sunshine in the morning.

May 26 — It's fun to watch all the last years' long-haired hippie freaks coming to show off their locks to the guys. I'm glad some people don't let their hair grow — it takes a bit of independence to be an individual.

May 27 — Awards Ceremony — it takes a lot of time; but you know, it's a good ego-trip to feel you worked your bod off and SOMEONE appreciated it.

May 28 — I guess there are endings to everything and today is the end of a lot of pain, effort, and the fruits of another school year. And, to those of you who were so anxious for this day to arrive — it has come and gone — I hope it brings some good memories back and someday wish you were young again.
