LEADERSHIP OPPORTUNITY

MILITARY

PROFESSOR OF MILITARY SCIENCE: Lieutenant Colonel Billy J. Patterson received a Bachelor of Science Degree from Indiana University in 1954. Commissioned a Second Lieutenant through the ROTC LTC Patterson entered active duty in April 1955. He received a Masters Degree in Business Administration from Roosevelt University in 1965. LTC Patterson assumed the duties of Professor of Military Science at Wentworth Military Academy and Junior College on 15 July 1970 after attending the Command and Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

The Wentworth Department of Military Science proudly boasts a total of 128½ years combined military leadership experience. This experience supports a curriculum designed to meet the needs of the individual cadet, the institution, the community, and the Army in the preparation of cadets to serve as good leaders and citizens. Wentworth conducts two Reserve Officer Training Programs: The Junior Division ROTC Program of Military Training (MT 1, 2, 3 and 4) for high school students and the Senior Division ROTC Program of Military Science (MS. I, II, III, and IV) for junior college students. At Wentworth every cadet is required under school policy to participate each year in the military program. Only these cadets who volunteer and are qualified to enter into a contract may qualify for a commission. Entering into a contract in the Advanced Course to qualify for a commission includes the following: 1. Two school years of ROTC education. 2. Advanced summer camp training of six weeks between the freshman and sophomore years. 3. Military training deferment from selective service while participating in the program and during the subsequent period while the cadet is pursuing a baccalaureate degree. 4. Monetary allowance of $100.00 per month for each of the two school years (up to ten months). Advanced summer camp pay of about $270.00 per month plus travel allowance. 5. Upon being commissioned he is obligated to serve not less than two years on active duty, if so ordered.

Under the ROTC program at Wentworth a cadet is afforded the opportunity to qualify as a second lieutenant in the Army Reserve upon completion of his sophomore year of college. This opportunity is only pertinent to a Military Junior College. It is not required that a commission be accepted at the time. A cadet may continue in school to attain his degree prior to commissioning and active service, or he may apply for a commission and active service prior to attaining a degree.

Scholarships

Intense study furthers scholarship.

Only three more.

The ROTC Scholarship Program is designed to offer financial assistance to outstanding young men and women interested in Army ROTC and a future as Army officers. Scholarships are awarded on a competitive basis for one, two, three, or four year periods. Selection of winners is based upon applicants' abilities, accomplishments, and demonstrated leadership potential.

The scholarships provide for payment of all tuition, fees, textbooks, and school supplies for the period the scholarship is in effect at any college or university of the recipient's choice which offers the Army ROTC Program. In addition, the student receives a taxfree subsistence allowance of $100.00 each month during the school year, one-half the pay of a Second Lieutenant (currently $265.50 per month) for a period of six weeks while he attends ROTC Advanced Summer Camp, and mileage allowances to and from college and summer camp. Students awarded scholarships lead essentially the same life as other college students. They may pursue any course of study leading to a baccalaureate degree except theology, and may engage in any extracurricular activities that do not interfere with their military science requirements. They take the prescribed military science courses, participate in scheduled drills, and attend a 6-week summer camp between their MS III and IV years. Upon successful completion of military science and bachelor degree requirements, students will be commissioned as either Regular Army or Reserve second lieutenants in one of the several branches of the U.S. Army and serve on active duty for at least 4 years.

Flight Program

Professor of Military Science are required. A series of Flight Aptitude Tests and physical examination must be satisfactorily completed.

FLIGHT INSTRUCTION PROGRAM

The student receives a basic introduction to the principles of flying in small, fixed-wing aircraft. He learns the principles of navigation, map and compass reading, take-offs and landings, and will accrue many hours of solo flying. ROTC flight instruction is given by a civilian flying school, near the college, which has the approval of the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA), the Department of the Army, and the college.

"In the Army, this is where the trigger will be."

The Army ROTC Flight Instruction Program provides an opportunity to learn to fly while participating in Army ROTC training. Under this program, the Army will pay for flight training for selected ROTC students who have an aptitude for flying and who meet required qualifications.

ELIGIBILITY

To be eligible to enroll in the program, a student must be enrolled in Army ROTC and have completed the first year of the ROTC Advanced Course. A sufficiently high academic standing and approvals from both the applicant's Dean and the Know your airplane from top to bottom, inside and out.

The program is conducted as an extracurricular activity. Instruction is normally completed in four months, but up to nine months is allowed in special cases. Each student receives 35 hours of ground instruction and 36½ hours of instruction in flight. Three additional hours of instruction may be authorized to meet individual needs. Little additional work is required to qualify for a private pilot's license.

OBLIGATION

Upon enrolling in the ROTC Flight Instruction Program, the student must agree that, if he successfully completes the program and is commissioned, he will voluntarily apply for Army Aviation Training when he is ordered to active duty. He must also agree that if he is selected for Army Aviation Training, he will serve on active duty for three years following completion or termination of such training.

BENEFITS

The Army pays for all flight instruction, textbooks, navigational equipment, flight clothing, and transportation to and from the flying school.

At graduation, the ROTC student who has taken Flight Instruction will have the rank of Second Lieutenant, and a headstart in the exciting and challenging field of Army Aviation. Earning wings is a valuable "plus" to a commission as an Army officer. An officer gains important management and executive abilities demanded by today's business and professional worlds. A pilot acquires a premium skill that is valuable in either a military or civilian career, and, in addition to full pay and benefits while on active duty as an officer, receives extra pay for flight duty.

Basic Summer Camp

In addition to the Four-Year ROTC Program, a Two-Year Program has been developed as a part of the senior division. It is designed to accommodate those cadets who do not have the opportunity to complete Basic Course requirements (MS I and II, 3 years of high school ROTC, or 2 years active military service) prior to entering the freshman year of junior college. It consists of a Basic Summer Camp of six weeks duration at Fort Knox, Kentucky. Completion of this training provides credit for the Basic Course (MS I and II), and enables the cadet to enter the Advanced Course (MS III and IV) in his freshman year and to qualify for a commission at the end of his sophomore year. His training at the basic camp is accomplished with other ROTC cadets. At the camp, the student learns the basic skills of soldiering and leadership. The basic camp trainee remains in civilian status. He receives $288.00 per month, or that of a private in the Army. The cost of transportation to the camp and return is reimbursed. Upon completion of the camp there is no obligation to pursue the ROTC program for a commission. Last summer Wentworth sent fourteen outstanding young men to camp and they all graduated from the program.

Every formally enrolled Wentworth cadet faces the challenge of Advanced Summer Camp between his college freshman and sophomore years. At the camp, the cadet has the opportunity to put all of his previous classroom instruction to good use through practical exercise in leadership situations. He participates in rigorous physical training and adds to his knowledge of technical skills such as communications, tactics, weapons and first aid. He learns to lead by being a leader and experiencing first hand many of the problems faced by leaders at all levels. Wentworth cadets usually attend Advanced Camp at Fort Riley, Kansas. Last summer Wentworth sent 16 cadets to camp at Fort Riley, two cadets to Indiantown Gap Reservation, Pennsylvania, and three cadets to ROTC Ranger Camp at Fort Benning, Georgia.

AOT CADET: James E. Carroll

Each year Wentworth selects an outstanding advancing MSIV cadet to send to an active Army unit for a period of two weeks following completion of Advanced ROTC Summer Camp. The purpose of this program is to enable the cadet to gain a better insight into the challenges and responsibilities he will face when he is commissioned a second lieutenant. The AOT gets a live preview as an observer and often first-hand experience as an assistant platoon leader.

RECONDO training remains as an important part of the ROTC Advanced Summer Camp curriculum. To obtain the RECONDO Badge a cadet must successfully complete the following criteria while at Advanced Camp; 1. At least one successful rappel from a height of at least 50 feet. 2. At least one successful "Slide for Life." 3. At least one successful drop into water from a height between 20 and 40 feet. 4. Fire at least marksman during basic rifle marksmanship training. 5. Score at least 350 points on the Basic Physical Fitness Test and at least 60 points in each of the test events. 6. Score a passing grade in Land Navigation and Orienteering. 7. Successfully negotiate the obstacle course. 8. Receive an overall satisfactory evaluation from the Cadre Platoon Leader/Evaluator. 9. Successfully complete the Advanced Camp.

Those cadets desiring an extra challenge may attend the U.S. Army Airborne School at Fort Benning, Ga., in addition to Advanced Summer Camp. The three week Basic Airborne Course is comprised of three phases: Ground Week, where students are given physical conditioning and fundamentals; Tower Week, where students continue physical training and make jumps from the 34-foot and 250-foot towers to simulate parachuting conditions; and finally Jump Week, where students make five actual parachute jumps from airplanes. Graduates of the course are awarded the "silver wings" of the Parachutist's Badge.

— Ranger — In lieu of the normal ROTC Advanced Summer Camp, selected cadets may elect to attend the ROTC Ranger Camp at Fort Benning, Ga. These cadets attend the same rugged Ranger Course that the U.S. Army gives its active duty professionals. Ranger School is a leadership course that uses the techniques of patrolling under simulated combat conditions as a teaching vehicle. Confidence and skill are acquired through operations in mountainous and swampy terrain. Technical proficiency is taught, but the trainee must supply his own physical stamina and desire to succeed. Each student is required to function effectively as a leader when both he and his unit are at the point of mental and physical exhaustion. Those who do succeed are awarded the coveted Ranger Tab.

Opportunity

The emphasis of ROTC is leadership. Wentworth's program operates on the principle that one learns best by doing that which he seeks to learn. There are many opportunities at Wentworth to gain valuable leadership experience.

Awards

One of the many positive incentives for outstanding performance by ROTC cadets is the Awards and Decorations Program. This program is made possible through the cooperation of various patriotic service and fraternal organizations with the Department of the Army in providing medals, ribbons and certificates for the many awards to which an ROTC cadet may aspire. Recipients wear their medals with justifiable pride, for the standards of motivation and performance which earned them their medals were high.

Cadet Dale Prosser recipient of the 100 mile certificate and patch.

One of the many ways in which a Wentworth cadet may develop and maintain physical fitness is through the "Run for Your Life" program. "Run For Your Life" is a program of progressive distance running, based on the principles of aerobic exercise, which strengthens the heart, lungs and certain skeletal muscles. Regular participants enjoy increased ability to endure physical and emotional stress. As additional incentive, mileage certificates and patches are awarded to participants completing 50; 100; 200; 300; 400; 500; 750; 1,000; 2,500; 5,000; 7,500; and 10,000 miles of running in the program. To receive credit for awards, an individual must complete the mileage within established time goals as appropriate for his phase of participation; i.e., preparatory, conditioning, or sustaining phase.

As an old and highly attended sport, soccer provides hours of excitement for both participants and spectators. Wentworth's popular soccer team is made up of students of the junior high, high school, and junior college. This sport demands co-operation and teamwork because all players must combine their talents to achieve success. Students from South America and Asia take great interest in this international sport which provides a good link between people of different traditions.

An ancient tale told at Wentworth is of the headless wrestler who, according to legend, appears only when the Wentworth team is near defeat and brings them to victory in a single match. To the right is the only known photo existing of the phantom wrestler and was snapped moments before the wrestler disappeared. It is Wentworth tradition that the coach ask, "Who was that headless man?" and the team replies, "We don't know, but we wanted to thank him."

Now, just what am I s'pos' to do?

I'm on the yearbook staff!

Mirror, mirror, on the wall, which yearbook is best of all? (Don't worry about that this year. WMA has not had a yearbook for twenty or so years. The first time anything new is attempted, there are bound to be complications, but next year . . .) Listen mirror, the yearbook staff worked themselves sick. They had the group picture taken in a hospital, and all you can say is wait until next year? (Doing something a second time has the same effect as age on wine; it is better, brisk and fine.)

Phi Theta Kappa

Phi Theta Kappa is a national honor fraternity for academic excellence in junior colleges. The Tau Chapter at Wentworth annually publishes the Student Directory and, using the funds made from the sale of directory, awards scholarships to its academically outstanding members. This year the Tau Chapter spent a weekend at beautiful Tan-Tar-A on the Lake of the Ozarks.

Now for the moment you've been waiting. The winner of the 1972-73 Ugly Man Contest is . . .

Jay Leslie. Congratulations, Jay!

Stables

Horseback riding is a "lifetime sport" and can be enjoyed in every part of the country any time of the year. Every cadet may enjoy the stables under proper guidance and supervision.

The ol' grey mare she ain't . . .

Dances

Throughout the year WMA holds many dances ranging from the most formal to the very casual. Music represented as the various dances include classical, jazz, and rock.

Bivouac

Bivouac is part of the military program in which the entire corps participates. The cadets draw on their military education in the use of radio communications, map reading, and many other areas to make the weekend successful. After hiking several miles to the bivouac site, the companies assemble their campsite.

The companies soon collected for the athletic competition. Cross-country run, one-mile run, inverted crawl, sit-ups, map reading, and tug-of-war were among those performed. Every cadet participated in at least one of these events and those waiting cheered their comrades to success. As the evening darkness approached, cadets gathered in a natural outdoor amphitheater to hear a group of gospel singers, "New Covenant Love." Everyone was in excellent spirits and the group received a welcome they shall never forget. Many of the selections they played, the "New Covenant Love" composed themselves.

After the concert, the camp echoed with the sound of "Taps" and cadets crawled wearily into their tents. The flashlights of Security searched the quiet landscape. Only the song of crickets and tree frogs could be heard for everyone was tired. They were proud, too, and with reason; the corps performed outstandingly.

SPECIAL

EVENTS

Career Day is an annual event on campus where cadets listen to fathers lecture on the work and benefits of their profession. Students may choose between a wide selection from ranching and forestry to law, medicine, and insurance.

Administrators, and cadets and their fathers gathered in the fieldhouse for the annual Dad's Day Dinner. Everyone enjoyed the dinner and the short speeches following.

Homecoming

The Homecoming Weekend activities beginning with the parade through Lexington were ruled over by three beautiful young women. Following the parade was the football game.

Dear Homecoming Foe;

We're going to get you, we're going to get you, we're going to get you, we're going to SSG Snorkle.

In behalf of Wentworth.

requests the honor of your presence at its Annual Military Ball

Wentworth's Annual Military Ball is the social highlight of the year. Weeks in advance cadets will be found perched precariously above the fieldhouse floor working busily on decorations. Hours of practice are faithfully fulfilled to bring the ball to its expected splendor.

The evening officially opens with a fanfare composed by Wentworth's band director for the ball's theme, "An Evening in Paris." Following is the presentation of colors and the presentation of ladies escorted by cadet officers.

Practice, pages, and pretty girls made it perfect. Hours and days, months and years go by, but the beauty of the 1973 Annual Military Ball will never be forgotten by those who attended.

Wentworth Show

At the Wentworth Show held each year at the Municipal Auditorium in Kansas City, MO, the cadets display their talents, interests, and activities. Rangers rappelling from the ceiling always bring a big hand.

Favorites of the show are the Honor Guard and their flying rifles and a display of flags from the homeland of cadets living outside the United States. Uncountable cadets emerged from one pup-tent.

The precision of the Color Guard and Wentworth's Marching Band is known throughout the Midwest. Cadets, parents, and alumni are proud of their association with Wentworth when they see these two organizations perform.

Cadet Life

Formations of all sorts are a regular part of cadet life. Whether it is a meal formation or the 6:05 A.M. Monday morning laundry formation, Wentworth cadets are ready.

Every day at Wentworth is a day of inspections. There are room inspections, noon inspections, and others, all of which keep cadets looking their best.

You get plenty of reading practice at Wentworth. The demerit board seems more popular than the newspaper although both receive wide attention. If one tires of those, there are always letters from home.

I've heard of garage sales, even basement sales, but a table sale?

Hey man, what's happenin'?

Are you, by any chance, new?

Recovering from the damage of two fierce ice storms is hard work. Hard work often results in large appetites. Large appetites often result in spur-of-the-moment parties. Spur-of-the-moment parties always result with fun for everyone.

The road taken by the 1972-73 yearbook this year was one paved with pebbles, gravel, stones, and sometimes boulders. However, pathways and detours were found along the route to reach the end of the treacherous road that is not unusual for a new publication of the giant scope of this years undertaking.

As the advisor of the yearbook, it has been a trying year for me. I am proud, however, to be associated with the first yearbook publication from Wentworth in over twenty years. The experiences encountered and the relationships established with students, faculty, and administrators have been well worth the pressures, deadlines, misunderstandings, and tedious working hours. I feel this yearbook is part of me.

Most students fail to realize what goes into putting together a yearbook; but to the few who do, I owe my untold gratitude. Without their help, whether it was significant or trivial, our publication would not have been completed.

Without a sufficient staff, a yearbook is doomed before it is started. I am grateful for those willing workers who assisted in every way. The section editors, typists, photographers, and co-editors of the yearbook deserve special credit for their involvement. I want to give my personal thanks to all of them for their work.

A special thanks goes to Cadet Jeff Brooks and Miss Linda Hopcock for their time and dedication to the final completion of the yearbook after school's dismissal.

It is our hope that this publication will be one students will be proud to show friends. We believe it is a new publication destined to become a proud, beautiful tradition for years to come at Wentworth Military Academy.

Last minute picture processing.

The first yearbook publication at Wentworth in many years suffered from a conspiracy as real as any cloak and dagger mystery complete with the murderer loose in a dark room ready to spring the dagger into its next victim. The murderer is confusion and will plague any publication where workers are unfamiliar with yearbook procedure. As in every mystery, the murderer, (confusion), was stopped as editors became familiar with the yearbook operation and the publication was finished on time as planned. All editors who worked in completing the 1972-73 yearbook gained a valuable education and experience. I look forward to being associated with next year's yearbook and hope many schoolmates will plan to involve themselves also.
