

Pass-in-Review

1991-92 Yearbook

Wentworth Military Academy

Lexington, Missouri 64067

The Phoenix, a mythical bird consumed by flame and rising to live again, is the symbol of a new beginning; a new era; a rebirth.

To the staff of the 1991-92 Wentworth Military Academy Pass-in-Review yearbook, the image of the Phoenix symbolizes the rebirth, the "rising from the ashes" of the Academy.

This year has been one of changes at the school. A new superintendent, BG Gerald Childress, and new ideas and concepts at the school means a positive step forward toward the 21st Century and toward a more promising future.

While the staff realizes the Phoenix is not a WMA mascot, we believe it best symbolizes what we see as a "new" year at the Academy.

More than parades, classes

Campus life means fun, friends

Wentworth Military Academy is more than just drills, class and dress parades.

Every once and a while, after the practices are done, the parades rehearsed and the scholastic building empty, the cadets at Wentworth can be found kicking back and enjoying themselves.

Whether its dancing, enjoying special activities, working "groan" at the Kansas City Chiefs stadium or whaloping a best friend during a mid-winter snowball fight, the cadets work as hard at their free time as they do in the class, on the athletic field or court or during military training.

That free time is taken seriously at Wentworth. During the time, cadets make special friendships which last a lifetime. They learn about themselves through those friends. And they discover new ideas which stay with them forever.

Whew! With all that, there's no doubt, Wentworth can be fun!

Dance class is popular with the cadets as they not only learn new dance steps, but they also meet the girls.

Brace yourself, Ted. Cadet Ted Steinkamp becomes the latest victim of a swirly.

Sweep, don't play, Barker. Along with the rest of the corps, Cadet Russell Barker helps clean the Chiefs stadium.

Dunking donuts and drinking cider kept Cadet Grant Caswell out of mischief on Halloween.

Cadet Chris Phelan shows great bowling form while throwing the remains of a snowball.

Someday Cadet Lucas Connerly just might like Cadet Joshua Manso (not).

There's fun beyond the classroom

Homecoming for Old and New boys is always exciting, and registration helps everyone remember names.

Special assemblies and trips, like this one to see meteorologist Bryan Busby, are a part of Academy life.

Wentworth Military Academy is the school with academics, military, sports and friendships. Every cadet has a chance to succeed at the Academy if he uses his CQs, studies hard and pays attention to details.

The cadets can also succeed on the athletic field, joining winning teams and learning sportsmanship.

Most importantly, however, cadets can make lasting friendships at the school. Those friends help each other to succeed. They also help each other come to understand a little bit more about life.

Wanted! Cadet Alfonso Ocampo tries to hide behind a mask of mud, but to no avail.

Snap out of it McAllister, and look this way for the camera.

Mrs. Betsy Sellers keeps a close eye on her English students.

CPT Jay Allen and cadet J.R. Lewis relax right before the bell.

Cadets Robert Castillo and Conor Boyce take a few minutes to enjoy themselves.

Another day in cadet life ...

Hitting the books again is a true student Cadet Paul Marshall.

Cadet Mark Williams takes over for an absent teacher. But will anyone learn?

During his free time, Cadet Dean Barker studies away the time.

Working on a yearbook is tough, but Cadet Levi Peckham hams it up for the camera.

Summer school and camp means fun activities too, including ceramics, taught by Gayle Wrisinger, who is also the WMA barber.

The Marching Band's performances this year included an eagle rededication in Kansas City with speaker Mayor Cleaver.

Cadet Matt Spotts prepares for the school year with a visit to the QM and Dorothy Thompson.

Scouting is an important program at Wentworth, and Scout Master Kenneth Wandell helps the cadets through lectures.

ACTIVITIES

Parents watch the dress parade, then congratulate their sons who made their Hat Brass.

Kramer Keller, a visitor from Kansas City, performed at half-time of the football game.

Parent's Weekend proves fun

This year's Parent's Weekend included a variety of activities.

A banquet on Friday evening was capped off with a Red Dragon win, 27-7, over the Norborne Pirates.

Saturday began with a coffee, followed by class visitation. A dress parade and dinner finished off the morning. The annual Dad's Drill and a junior college soccer game ended the events for the weekend, and parents were allowed to check their sons out for the remainder of the time.

Cadet Levi Peckham and his parents enjoy the evening meal during Parents Weekend.

The Parent's Club offered nuts, Christmas ornaments and other items for sale to raise money.

Registration and Saturday morning coffee set the mood for a day of fun.

Tradition continues in the form of Dad's Drill, held on Saturday afternoon.

Cadet Paul Haley escorts his date, Lynn Provost, to the Homecoming dance.

Homecoming '91, A Success

Wentworth Military Academy hosted this year's Homecoming Oct. 25-27, honoring the years of the Big Red ones.

The Big Red Ones and other visitors were able to see the Dragons beat the MMA Colonels 41-0 on Saturday. The 112th Corps of Cadets voted for the 1991 queen and princesses. Winners were Trisha Vogt, queen; Carrie Hackler, first princess; and Stacey Barnes, second princess.

Other awards were also presented, including Hall of Fame and permanent Superintendent Council.

Homecoming Royalty, Carrie Hackler, Tricia Vogt and Stacey Barnes arrive at the dance.

Athletic Hall of Fame inductees take a few minutes to view the display in the fieldhouse.

Alumni congratulate each other after their win at the Junior College vs alumni basketball game.

It wouldn't be Homecoming if football coach, Dick Gwinn's home wasn't decorated.

WAC Club Fun For All

The Wentworth Athletic Club (WAC) was started as a means to get the area communities involved with the school. Members can use any of the facilities which include the swimming pool, indoor track, racquetball and basketball courts. They also have special courses like scuba diving and aerobics. The director of the club is Mrs. Denise Allen. Anyone can join and enjoy the club by paying the minimal membership fee.

Ambassadors Represent WMA

The Student Ambassador Program is developed for the new boys attending Wentworth. It gives them an opportunity to meet families in the area and have those cadets become part of that community. The program teams up cadets with families who can help relieve any homesickness the new cadets may feel. Cadets also invite the sponsors to watch them in school activities during the year.

Cadets shine at Military Ball

The 1992 Military Ball, sponsored by the WMA Parents' Club, was a magical evening for all: cadets, queens, parents and alumni. The 58th Annual Ball, held in Wikoff Fieldhouse, started with the traditional receiving line and moved onto the Queens' coronations, always a highlight of the evening. After the crowning, graduating cadets and officers and their dates began the Grand March and walk through the Arch of Steel. The social event of the year, many alumni, parents, faculty and staff attended, as well as honored guests and some members of the community.

Cadets and their dates enjoy dancing the night away at the Ball. For some, it is a first time experience; others, like Queen Carrie Hackler and Cadet Rowland and Cadet Stehr and former queen Candy Bryant, are accustomed to the formality that is a large part of every Military Ball.

Commencement a time of new beginnings

Graduates say farewell

Wentworth Military Academy held its 112th Commencement Exercises May 22-24.

Prior to the graduation, the MS-IV cadets were commissioned as second lieutenants by MG John H. Little, commanding general ADA Center-Commandant ADA School. MG Little was also commissioned at Wentworth in 1963.

Other activities that week-end included the Commander Ellis Golf Tournament on Friday afternoon and the Wentworth band concert that night. Saturday, the band and the Honor Guard performed for parents and guests. Later that night, the 58th Annual Military Ball was held in Wikoff Fieldhouse.

High school seniors and junior college sophomores received their diplomas on Sunday from the commencement speaker, G. Kim Wincup, assistant secretary of the Army (Manpower and Reserve Affairs).

A dress parade followed the graduation with a final dismissal of the 112th Corps of Cadets.

Cadet Juan Aguilar receives his eighth grade diploma from Rev. David Jones, who led the Baccalaureate service.

Commencement speaker G. Kim Wincup congratulates Cadet Juventino Fernandez on his high school graduation.

The 112th Corps of Cadets rejoice as they toss their hats in the air at the final dismissal.

Cadet John Holman receives a graduate degree from G. Kim Wincup.

Eleven MS-IV cadets raise their right hands and swear to serve the United States during the commissioning ceremony.

Cadet Robert Nace salutes BG Childress as he is presented the Ted Messmore Award.

MG Little, WMA class of 1961, addressed the junior college commissionees, a position he once was in 31 years ago.

The Wentworth Band give their all at the final performance of the 1991-1992 year, for some, the last one ever.

As a military official, Mr. G. Kim Wincup instructs the cadets that a future within the military is a promising one.

Tough exterior momentarily gone, Cadet Mike Stehr and Cadet Aaron Brown break down in tears and hug each other good-bye.

Alpha,

Well guys, it has been a long year. We started out as a group of individuals from all over the world. But we made friends and have come together to be one great gang of friends. I think "gang" is the most fitting description.

From the start of the year, others told us that we were low speed. But you did not listen. We know who we are and what we came here for.

As your captain, I got to know about each and every one of you. You all have the potential to go far in your own interests. I know that I learned a lot about myself this year. I am glad that you were all there to make it fun with your practical jokes and pranks, even if you did go too far sometimes.

So thanks for a great year and good luck in whatever you go on to.

Hasta,

Dear Bad Boys of Charlie,

At the beginning of the year, we set a number of goals and standards. Not only did we meet those goals and standards, we set new and higher ones. When you guys look back on everything that happened this year and think about all the (stuff) you went through, I want you to remember that most people wouldn't have been able to take the stress you all endured.

I would like to send a special thanks to the NCOs of Charlie. I couldn't have done it without you!

No matter where you go or what you do, always remember Charlie rocks!

Thanks,

Gentlemen,

You guys have come a long way from the day you arrived at Wentworth. The maturity, manners and many other things you learned here will help you wherever you go and whatever you do in your lifetime.

Some of you remember the problems we had with the school taking my officers from the company staff and putting them elsewhere first semester. In the middle of December this problem was finally resolved and then you guys started excelling in all areas that were possible.

As the tradition within the Corps of Cadets always goes, you also came through when it was needed at Parents' Weekend, Homecoming Weekend, Grandparents' Weekend, AFI and the many other inspections and performances.

Of course, all of you know there were problems with some of the cadets within the company, which we got rid of. This goes to show that if you cannot obey the rules you are not going to last. As you can see the ones that were really screwed up did not finish the school year with you. It will be like this in everything you do within your lifetime.

I would like to close by saying something that you all have heard me say many times. If you "THINK BEFORE YOU ACT," this will help you prevent mistakes, and ninety percent of the time, will keep you out of trouble in the future.

Sincerely,
c/Capt. Rodney R. Baehl

Dear Headquarters,

Well, if there was ever a trying year, it was this one. We started off great! Then second semester arrived and to our dismay, honor guard and staff were added to our numbers. And that got us for a while but we pulled out of it.

There were so many good times this year; it's hard to remember all of them. All of the parades we marched to without a glitch shows what kind of unit you really are. When you look back, you'll also think of all the P.T. we did in the hall and down in the sandpit. But you realize that it helped you motivate yourself. But also remember all the birthdays, all the laps around the barracks, waking up CPT Olsen with the barracks guard, and of course, the St. Louis trip.

You have come a long way this year and have endured many changes, especially the change in command. Thanks for working with me! No matter what anyone says, you all know who the best is. Keep your heads up and "rock steady."

Military teaches lifetime values

The military atmosphere at Wentworth Military Academy begins with the cadet's very first day.

There is a lot of anticipation as students get ready to face the challenges of the coming year.

The Old Boys are trying to remember what they learned as Rats so they can instruct the New Boys effectively, while the Rats are wondering what is in store for them.

In the next few days, the Rats are taught discipline and pride along with marching, room inspection, military courtesies and other things which will make their life at the campus easier.

After the first week, it is easy to tell who is progressing the quickest. However, as the year progresses all the cadets fall in line to make one big family who will now and forever look after each other's well being. Lifetime friendships are made and enemies are forgiven.

As the end of the year draws near, there is a certain atmosphere surrounding the campus which one doesn't see often.

Seniors in high school and sophomores in college are getting ready to graduate and move on while the underclassmen are looking forward to the relaxation of summer.

For others, however, there is the anticipation of mini-camps and basic training waiting for them in the summer.

Military training at Wentworth never really ends. The cadets who are now saying goodbye to friends because of graduation are taking with them the leadership, qualities and discipline on to whatever their next step happens to be.

A field training exercise covers a wide variety of items, including how to clean an M-16 rifle.

Cadet Jason "Bird" Lewis assists in a rope bridge activity during a local FTX.

It's a war out there. Cadet Karl Seltsinger becomes another prisoner of Charlie Company.

JROTC, SROTC cadets learn military training

The cadet military division consists of two battalions at Wentworth.

The Junior ROTC battalion consists of the junior high and high school cadets. They meet every Thursday for drill where they learn such activities as rappelling, lifesaving, first aid, and many other fun and exciting activities.

The JROTC cadets have class every Tuesday and Thursday. The class is taught by active army personnel who are assigned to the campus over a period of time.

JROTC teaches cadets how to be responsible and instills discipline and leadership.

JROTC battalion consists of CPT Brad Rowland, battalion commander; 2LT Chris Phelan, S-1; 1LT Marshall Rason, S-2; 1LT Matt Spotts, S-3; and Cadet Mike Stehr,

S-4.

The Senior ROTC battalion consists of the junior college cadets both in and out of the commissioning program. The JC cadets have drill every Thursday where they participate in many activities.

The SROTC cadets also go on many FTXs (field training exercises), where they do other military-oriented activities, such as rappelling, marksmanship, patrolling and running.

Some of the college cadets are also involved in the commissioning program where they attend WMA for two years, then are commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army. They are then required to finish their last two years of college.

Inspection is a major part of the Thursday afternoon drills at Wentworth Military Academy.

Charlie Company along with the rest of the corps members learn dress parades as part of the military training.

During a field training exercise, the cadets line up to learn the best way to handle an M-16 rifle.

Respect for the flag and the proper way to display it during parades is a part of military training.

The military training at Wentworth isn't all tough. Prior to a major workout, the cadets take the time to play a little tackle football in front of their barracks.

FTXs are hard work, just as the cadets who have to clean the barracks before they board a bus for home.

Army instructors explain target sites to cadets during a field training exercise.

Proper saluting during ceremonies is taught in military training at Wentworth.

The Wentworth Military Academy junior college soccer team had a difficulty, but rewarding year.

Basically coaching themselves, the team could not conjure up a winning season but did learn quite a bit about the sport.

Strong playing from Casey Wineland, Sean McDonald and John Kleeman helped lead the team. While the team couldn't quite reach that winning plateau, they did learn some strong playing abilities, which will help them in other years.

This year's junior college Red Dragon basketball team consists of (front row left to right) M. Perlman, T. Shaw, B. Ray, S. Jiles, J. Cooley, P. Doak (back row) S. Smart, E. Custudio, A. Cross, D. Allread, D. Mosley, J. Manso, M. Semrick, Coach Tom Hughes.

It was up and away for Stephon Jiles as he sank this one after flying past his opponents.

Taking a minute to cool off and relax during a time-out, the players listen to Coach Tom Hughes.

Ventworth's Mike Semrick managed to make it past this Haskell player, sinking the ball for two points in the final game of the year.

Bradley Shaw takes to the air, sinking the ball on a breakaway and race down the court.

The Red Dragons end their season with ten (10) wins and nineteen (19) losses. "We played together as well as any other team I have had here," said Coach Hughes. "The kids played hard and got the most out of our ability."

Returning for the 1992-93 season are B. Ray, S. Jiles, J. Cooley, A. Cross, and T. Shaw. R. Doak, E. Custodio, and S. Smart were Red Shirts this year.

M. Semrick was named pre-season All-American, first team All-Conference, Region 16 selection, and one of the Team Captains. The leading scorer for this season was M. Perlman. B. Ray and S. Jiles were both selected Honorable Mention All-Conference.

Dragons took second place in the CRC Tournament

The Dragons Basketball had a good season thanks to some team effort and a boost from second-semester newcomer, Tim Mayes. The Wentworth high school basketball team finished the season with a 5-13 record.

"The boys played hard all season," said Coach Jay Allen, "We finished the season with some wins, and the second place CRC finish was exciting for us."

Justin Cruz shoots for two in the first night of play in the CRC Touney against the Brayme Bearcats.

Les Wiles shoots for three in the Braymer vs. WMA CRC game.

Junior High Red Dragons have tough season

This year's junior high basketball team consisted of (front row left to right) Michael Gambone, Chris Pohle, Ron Griest, Chris Ryan (back row) Jason Storni, Barry Hendricks, Grant Casell, Jason Bledsoe, Matt Studebaker, Sami Doshan and Coach Mike Long.

With only seven games on their schedule, the junior high basketball team had a short season.

But even with that shortness, the season was great for the cadets who played.

With the large numbers of players who turned out for the team, Coach Long was able to make an A team and a B team.

The A team ended their season with a 1-6 record, while the B team ended theirs with a 2-5 record.

"We had a tough season if you look at the record," said Coach Long, "But we had some young players and they hung tough."

Even with the short season, it was a good learning experience for the players.

Coach Mike Long encourages Sami Doshan to play hard and work towards a win.

On a breakaway, Robert Taggart, who played on both the JV and junior high teams, keeps his eye on the basket.

Chris Pohle and Doug Trott practice passing the ball prior to the first game of the season.

Coach Mike Long gathers his team around him for a shot of encouragement and a pep talk prior to game. This year's ninth graders played on both the junior high and junior varsity teams.

Wentworth Military Academy sends two wrestlers to state

The Dragon wrestling team's season ended with two wrestlers at state competition. The team finished the season with a 6-6 record.

The main powerhouse of the team were Jason "Bird" Lewis, Mike Stehr and Matt Hinds and Paul Haley.

The wrestlers ended with some of the best records of their careers, such as Mike Stehr 25-6 Bird Lewis, 24-6 and Matt Hinds, 18-8.

With the coaching skills of Terry Schroeder, the Dragon wrestling team looks to have more wrestlers competing in future state tournaments.

Jason "Bird" Lewis awaits his first match in some tough competition at the Military State Tournament.

Tennis team has strong season

This year's high school tennis team members were (front row left to right) Pedro Maldonado, Scott Gibson, Steve DeVore, Aaron Brown, Otho Welsh, Arturo Elizondo, Joe Sulzback, (second row) Matt Williams, Paul Smith, Peter Lind, Mike Parker, Conor Boyce, Josh Kline, Jacob Sherma, Bryan Wallace, and Coach Jay Allen.

The high school tennis team finished with a 4-2 season with Pedro Maldonado competing in the quarter finals of district and finishing eighth out of 30 single players.

Overall, the team finished second at the Tri-Mil match and fifth at the Warrensburg Tournament. Maldonado took fifth place in junior varsity singles.

The team also finished sixth out of 13 teams at district.

Othon Welsh concentrates during a tough match early in the season. He went on to defeat his opponent in this set. The doubles team of Arturo Elizondo and Peter Lind work together for a win. Pedro Maldonado, who made it to the district quarter finals, smashes the ball across the net to take a point from his opponent.

The high school golf team finished at 7-2 for the season with a fifth place finish out of 21 teams at the William Jewel Invitational and a third place finish out of 10 teams in district competition.

Overall, the team defeated Lexington High School, St. Mary's, Barstow, Kemper and Sacred Heart. The team lost to Higginsville, Carrollton and MMA in the Tri-Mil match.

Mike Stehr lines up a putt on the final hole in a Wentworth win over their opponent.

The Wentworth golf team takes advantage of the beautiful course at Shirkey's in Richmond for home matches.

A little facial grimace helps the Wentworth golfers connect for great swings and low scores.

HS, JH track teams aim high

The high school track team consists of (front row left to right) Boyd Hart, Matt Hinds, Geraldo Martinez, John Kleeman, Carl Jaggers, Tim Mayes, Dean Spencer, Mike Stehr, (second row) Brett Astor, Robert Stimpson, Zach Pitt, Kyle Seitsinger, Alfonso Benitez, Bryan Roberts, Jason Lewis, (third row) Matt Spotts, Ross Witters, Chris Phelan, Rickey Robinson, Juan Cantu, Kendrick Burgess (fourth row) Paul Haley, Justin Cruz, Enrique LaCombe and Craig Jeffery

Bryan Roberts clears his final jump to take first at the Tri-Mil meet.

Boyd Hart heaves the shot for a first place finish at Tri-Mil.

Doug Trott heaves the discuss for his first throw at the Lexington meet

It's up and away for Grant Caswell who easily cleared this jump, as well as the next one.

Junior college baseball team has short season

The 1992 junior college baseball team consists of (front row left to right) Ian Kilbride, Steve Smart, Robert Greene, Phuc Buu, Casey Wineland, (second row) John Kindler, Rodney Doak, Richard Holley, Mike Semrick, Geraldo Martinez, Sean Elliot, Earlie Washington and Coach Terry Schroeder. The team had a rain-shortened season, playing only two games, a doubleheader against Kemper.

A look back at 1992

Are you dancing Cadet Stimpson?

Now this is how it's done; watch Queen Carrie Hackler and Cadet Michael Marlow.

Thanks for the diploma, sir, says Cadet Ted Steincamp.

No medal on his uniform can equal the pride Cadet Haley feels for his girlfriend, Queen Lynn Provost.

Let me at him! Cadet Robert Greene detains Cadet Clarence Boswell during a scene in the spring theatre production of "Billy Budd."

Cadet Brad Baronet can't understand how his room got so messy.

Cadets enjoy Wentworth life

Escorting families around campus, a Fox-trot cadet breaks from his duties to wave.

This is what a week at Wentworth can do to you says Cadet Shane Edwards.

The Mexican students like to hang around the Student Union.

Cadets Munso and Edwards are inseparable.

Katie Hughes, daughter of Coach Tom Hughes, works as water-girl for visiting teams at the Region 16 basketball tournament.

We're learning, we really are, insist cadets Pedro Perales and Juan Aguilar.

It'll be okay Coach Hughes, we promise!

Cadet Justin Cruz peeks out between Lexington and Wentworth players.

Life around campus never dull

Cadets Marshall Rasor and Kamal Kazan chat on the ledge in front of the Episcopal Church.

Cadet David Walton takes time out to relax in his room.

A helpful Foxtrotter gives directions to a family on Parent's Weekend.

Do it this way instructs LTC Zukowski to cadets Mike Peterson and Sean McDonald.

Earning their ascots is an important part of the Contract Ceremony for the Commissioning Cadets.

Cadets C. Phelan and R. Holley were this year's MacArthur award winners and were pinned by BG Gerald Childress.

Cadets P. Haley, B. Rowland, N. Munso, and M. Wheat enjoy the APO dance with their dates and friends.

Preparing for an FTX can be about as much fun as actually participating in one.

Garth Brooks he may not be, but Robert Green still plays a great guitar.

Jacob Sherman catches a few winks after a field training exercise. Lending a shoulder is Ted Steinkamp.

Are we supposed to be up or down, guys? The Honor guard shows off their skills during a drill.

Yearbook staff sees changes, goes with the flow

The 1991-92 staff members of Pass-in-Review had a super time putting together this year's yearbook.

Little did we know when we enrolled in the class how much work was involved in a yearbook. Now that we are aware of that, we believe we have put together a book which relays our feelings about Wentworth as well as our feelings of what happened during the 1991-92 academic year. This yearbook may not be the best yearbook ever put out, but we are proud of it. We experienced a lot of changes, what with having new advisors, Mrs. Patty Cheffey and Mr. Robert Florence, but we learned how to put together a yearbook and how to get it done right.

We know there are probably mistakes in this yearbook, and we know some of you won't like the pictures we chose or the copy we wrote, but we feel we did our best and we're proud of the book we published. We do regret that we were unable to get pictures of everyone in the yearbook. It takes the cooperation of every cadet, and that was something we were unable to receive this year.

However, we still believe this yearbook reflects our feelings, and is a measure of our work. We hope those of you who are considering taking production journalism during the 1992-93 school year will have as much fun in the class as we did. We also hope you will be as proud of your yearbook as we are of ours.

The members of the 1991-92 Pass-in-Review

Members of the yearbook class, including Rasor and Buzby, were inducted into quill and Scroll.
